Paul wrote a letter to the Galatian people who were falling out about differences between them. He said that if we are 'clothed in Christ' we are all the same and equal in God's eyes, even though we are all different and unique.

A prayer for when you get dressed:

I am unique and special, clothed with Christ
and part of God's big family.

This week let's make some mini clothes hangers that can remind us of that. You will need three lollipop sticks, a hook (a cup hook works well, or make one from a paperclip) and some strong glue. Cut one of the lollipop sticks in half and glue it on top of another stick with enough space to glue the hook in the middle. Glue the third stick on top so that the hook is covered. You can decorate your mini coat hanger by painting it or by wrapping strips of paper or fabric round it and gluing them in place. Why not write the words "Unique, but equal to God" on it as a reminder that God loves everyone the same.

A prayer for when you get dressed:

I am unique and special, clothed with Christ
and part of God's big family.
